VACATION INJURIES

How to Make Sure Your Rental Home is Safe

Every year, millions of Americans rent residential vacation spaces through online lodging services like Airbnb, HomeToGo, VRBO, and Tripping instead of booking commercial hotels or motels. While renting a home in this way has numerous benefits, like offering an inexpensive living space with lots of character and comfort, the Consumer Product Safety Commission (CPSC) is reminding vacationgoers that it is still important to make safety a priority.

Who Can Be Liable for Swimming Pool Accidents and Injury?

Spending the day at the pool is a fun part of summer for many people. Unfortunately, swimming pools are also places where there are serious risks of accidents and injuries. The two most common swimming pool accident injuries are drownings and slip and falls. While drowning accidents are particularly tragic, slip and fall accidents occur much more frequently.

What Should You Do if You Have Been Hurt in a Slip and Fall While on Vacation?

An accident can be particularly overwhelming and disruptive when it occurs away from home. While summertime is when people typically enjoy going on vacations with family and friends, it is also the time of year when the likelihood of being involved in an accident increases, including a slip and fall. Getting injured as a result of a slip and fall accident is never anticipated while on vacation, though it happens more often than people realize.

BACK-TO-SCHOOL SAFETY

American Academy of Pediatrics Stresses Importance of Emergency Preparedness in Schools

According to current estimates from the American Academy of Pediatrics (AAP), approximately 10% to 25% of childhood injuries occur while the child is in school. In the AAP's newly updated policy statement entitled "Individual Medical Emergencies Occurring at School", the academy stresses how important it is for schools to be prepared for an array of medical and behavioral problems, and traumatic injuries medical, behavioral, and traumatic injuries that children or school staff may experience.
