LABOR DAY SAFETY

Drive Sober or Get Pulled Over

Millions of Americans are gearing up to celebrate Labor Day, which is less than two weeks away – but before getting too wrapped up in your plans, remember that safety needs to be the number one priority. As a reminder to us all, the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA) recently launched its annual “Drive Sober or Get Pulled Over” Labor Day national enforcement mobilization campaign, which runs from August 18th to September 4th. To help our readers prepare for the holiday, we have compiled some important safety tips from the agency.

SEPTA BUS AND TROLLEY SAFETY

Out-of-Service SEPTA Trolley Crashes into Historic Philadelphia Home; Marks the Fifth Collision in One Week

On Thursday night, an out-of-service SEPTA bus crashed into a historic home at the corner of Island and Woodland Avenues in Southwest Philadelphia. Camera footage showed the slow-rolling trolley going off the tracks and colliding with an SUV before crashing into the Blue Bell Inn, established in 1766. No passengers were on board the trolley; however, a mechanic and two passengers in the SUV suffered injuries.

WORKPLACE ACCIDENTS

Tips to Avoid OSHA’s “Fatal Four”

Every day, construction workers face an array of job-related hazards. According to the Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA), the “Fatal Four” are the deadliest. The top four causes of fatalities in the construction industry are falls, struck-by, caught-in/between and electrocutions. To mitigate known dangers associated with OSHA’s “Fatal Four”, employers need to take certain steps to adequately protect employees and limit preventable accidents.

PRODUCTS LIABILITY

Products Liability Lawsuits Being Filed Against Manufacturer of Bard Power Port

Dangerous or defective medical devices, such as faulty implants, pacemakers, and prosthetics, can give rise to a products liability claim if a person is injured or dies due to their use. Despite Food and Drug Administration (FDA) monitoring, products can still be defective in their design, manufacturing, or marketing.

MEDICAL MALPRACTICE

Stomach Paralysis Caused by Ozempic and Mounjaro?

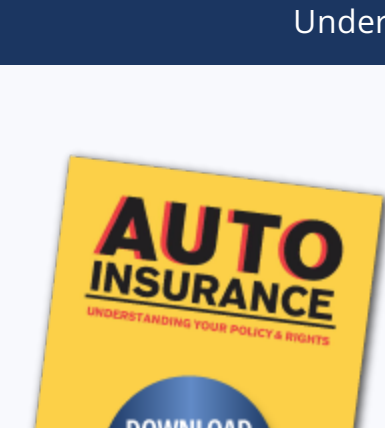

Attorneys across the country are investigating claims against Novo Nordisk and Eli Lilly and Co., manufacturers of popular diabetes and weight loss drugs Ozempic and Mounjaro. These drugs may cause gastroparesis, or paralysis of the stomach. Gastroparesis is not only uncomfortable and difficult for patients to experience, but it is also an incurable condition. Manufacturers failed to warn patients about the serious risks that accompany usage of the two drugs, which millions of Americans take each year. Mounjaro is the brand name for tirzepatide and Ozempic (and Wegovy) are brand names for semaglutide. Patients whose doctors prescribe them one of the drugs take it as an injectable once per week.
