United States Supreme Court Opens New Path to Recovery for Truck Accident Victims

In a major win for injury victims, the United States Supreme Court recently ruled that freight brokers can potentially be held responsible for negligently hiring unsafe trucking companies and drivers. The decision in Montgomery v. Caribe Transport II, LLC, is significant because it allows injured victims to pursue claims not only against the truck driver and carrier, but also against the companies responsible for selecting dangerous motor carriers in the first place, also known as freight brokers.

The case at issue arose from a horrific highway collision in Illinois. According to court filings, the plaintiff suffered severe injuries after a tractor-trailer allegedly left the roadway and struck a stopped vehicle on the shoulder of the highway. The injured victim claimed that the freight broker involved should never have hired the motor carrier because the company allegedly had a troubling safety history.

Pennsylvania's "Paul Miller's Law" Is About to Change the Way We Drive

Beginning June 5, 2025, Pennsylvania drivers will need to put their phones down while behind the wheel. The Commonwealth's new distorted driving law — known as "Paul Miller's Law" — officially bans the use of handheld mobile devices while driving, even while stopped at a red light or sitting in traffic.

The law represents one of the most significant updates to Pennsylvania traffic safety laws in years and is aimed squarely at reducing distracted driving crashes across the state.
