Workers' Compensation and Extreme Heat: What Every Worker Should Know

Summer temperatures in Pennsylvania and New Jersey can create dangerous working conditions, especially for employees who spend long hours outdoors or in hot indoor environments. Recently, our area has seen record-breaking temperatures. Construction workers, landscapers, roofers, warehouse employees, delivery drivers, agricultural workers, and factory employees all face an increased risk of heat-related workplace injuries.

If you become sick from extreme heat while performing your job, you may be entitled to Pennsylvania Workers' Compensation benefits. Understanding how to protect yourself - and knowing your legal rights if you suffer a heat-related illness - can make all the difference.

Summer Driving Safety Tips: How to Stay Safe on the Road and What to Do After a Car Accident

Summer is one of the busiest times of the year on the road. Families head out on vacations, teens are out of school, construction projects increase, and holiday weekends bring heavier traffic. While summer is a great time to travel, it also comes with a higher risk of car accidents.

Whether you're planning a cross-country road trip or simply commuting to work, taking a few extra precautions can help keep you and your loved ones safe.

Why Every Pennsylvania Bicyclist Should Have Auto Insurance with Underinsured Motorists and Uninsured Motorist Coverage

Many Pennsylvania bicyclists don't realize that one of the best ways to protect themselves after a serious bicycle accident has nothing to do with their bicycle — it's their automobile insurance.

If you're hit by a negligent driver while riding your bike, the driver's insurance may not be enough to cover your medical bills, lost wages, pain and suffering, and other damages. That's where your own automobile policy may become one of your most valuable assets.
